

Exploring Soul and Ancestral Lineage Through Landscape and the Deep Imagination

May 21 — 26, 2019 | Awapa Plateau in Utah

With Guides Peter Scanlan and Annie Bloom

DEEP IN OUR BONES we carry the DNA of ancestral stories that have been passed down to us over many generations. Woven in the shadows of time and the family narrative, with all the migrations, celebrations, tragedies, gifts and wounds, the ancestral energies have influenced our emotions, our life decisions, and how we think of ourselves. This influence is often unknown to us consciously. These hidden histories also haunt us with a longing for what we do not know, or are in the process of discovering about our unique personal soul stories. Exploration of the ancestral stories can bring a greater sense of belonging to the world and enhance the ever-evolving journey toward the embodiment of the unique soul qualities that each of us brings as gifts to the world

On the Awapa Plateau, you will likely meet up with the ancestral wounding in your lineages, perhaps piled up over generations. This is different though related to our personal life wounds and may, like our personal wounds, serve as portals to our development. You will have the opportunity to transform these wounds and discover the gifts of your ancestral heritage that are bound up like a gordian knot, the threads which go back generations. This work often resolves a puzzlement about why, having enacted much personal wound work, there seems to be something that continues to block progress, something that you cannot quite put your finger on.

Though exploration and discovery of known stories of our ancestry can be a valuable adjunct to exploring ancestral lineage, it is not the focus of this intensive. We will invite you to do a bit of research and bring whatever factual aspects of your ancestral story that you know. When such genealogical information is not available, however, it is not an impediment. Some folks know little or nothing of their ancestors. A less tangible aspect of our ancestral stories resides in the energetic field of ancestral energies that is available to everyone when we move out onto the landscape with our deep imaginations.

“Often our loneliness and isolation is due to a failure of spiritual imagination. We forget that there is no such thing as an empty space. All space is full of presence, particularly the presence of those who are now in eternal invisible form.” — John O’Donohue

In our 5 days together on the Awapa Plateau in central Utah, there will be ample time for wandering on this land of many waters in mountain terrain, this sparkling landscape of spring creeks, ponds and lakes surrounded by ancient ponderosa, tall spruce and dancing aspens, where we cannot help but feel the old ones present and shimmering in the air. We will court the mystery of our ancestral nature, listening with our bones and the ears of our imaginative hearts to ancestral energies — engaging with them and embodying them in story, movement, and image. Woven between wanders we will utilize poetry, council, deep imagery, ceremony and dream work to court the old ones and sort the threads of our personal and collective stories. Through this process, we will seek a deepened sense of ourselves, find lost heirlooms, and possibly bring a balm to ancient wounds.

Must Register By: March 15, 2019

COST: $700

All camping includes camp fee

Non-refundable deposit of $200 to register.

Registrations and final payments due 30 days before the program. Meal cost not included. Sharing in food preparation will be part of our community practice, more details on meal logistics will be included in the prep materials. In the event that we find it necessary to cancel the program you will receive a full refund.

We will be camping at the Aquarius Ranger Station on the Awapa Plateau — an old station now converted for public use, with a fully equipped kitchen, outdoor toilet, and beautiful grounds to camp on next to spring creeks coming down off the mountain.

For more information and how to register please contact Annie Bloom at:
annie@xmission.com or 435-425-2254

Guides

Peter Scanlan was a clinical psychologist in private practice for 34 years in Nashville, Tennessee. He trained with Animas Valley Institute and with School of Lost Borders as a vision quest guide and was a lead guide for the Animas Valley Institute for 16 years. He works to facilitate the transformation of personal story into the mytho-poetic story that each of us inhabits. He is dedicated to guiding people to the edge of the deepest mysteries, holding sacred space while they plunge into those depths, and then honoring the unique power and truth of the stories that they bring back from those journeys. He brings heart presence and a playful spirit to his work. Website: www.peterscanlan.com.

Annie Bloom has been guiding with Peter in the wilderness since 2002 when they discovered the magical cauldron their combined hearts wove together for people to cook in the transformations that awaited them.

For the past 25 years Annie has been an initiator to hundreds of people who have crossed over the threshold into the dreaming lodge of the world seeking a sacred vision for their lives. With her own development of Somatic Inquiry over her 33 years as a bodywork practitioner, she has led people into the truth at the center of their being, and is now standing with welcoming arms with her sweetheart Niles at the doorstep of Buffalo Dreaming Lodge: www.buffalodreaminglodge.com. With training and guiding through School of Lost Borders, Animas Valley Institute, Wilderness Reflections, and Synergos Institute, she has devoted her life to listening for the heartbeat of the holy in all things.